

Think you are perfect for us?
Don't be shy, apply now!
jobs@thisissoon.com

SOON_ Digital designer

Go to our website:
www.thisissoon.com

Follow us on twitter:
@soonlondon

SOON_ is looking for an experienced, talented Digital Designer to be a driving force behind our growing design team. You might be a digital designer with 3-5 years experience at a digital agency, creative company, digital start up or product team.

You should have a great portfolio of digital design work to show us and lots of ideas about how to do things your way. You will really love and have opinions on good design.

What you will be doing

Lead and produce design work creating web & interactive products. You'll also get to develop new brands and set art direction. Even if you're not "the UX guy" you should show a deep understanding of how to create interactive experiences – and not fear a wireframe or prototype.

Demonstrate mastery of design craft and principles: typography, layout, interaction, grids and branding. Be able to share this knowledge and approach with the team.

Thrive on a challenge. We support each other, but you're autonomous and will have projects that you own. You should be representing your work to clients. Know your tools. Generally, Adobe Creative Cloud. We use a variety of prototyping systems – and we'd like you to have an opinion on what else we should be using or doing.

What you'll get out of it

You will be working directly with Fred Flade (@flicko), co-founder and Creative Director, so this is an amazing chance to work, spar and learn from the best. We are a design-focused business that makes digital platforms, services, tools and utilities. So you'll be designing for those sorts of applications. We don't and (shouldn't) do banner ads.

We're a small company and a tight team - we work collaboratively, we share load, we have deep specialist experience but often blend roles. We work hard, talk straight and it's a bullshit free zone. We're new, so we have a very flat structure and a punchy start-up approach where good ideas have a direct line to reality.

We pay fair London wages and encourage decent amounts of holiday.

The mindset we're looking for Love what you do - we really care about our work. So should you.

Want to learn - learning new things is your driving force

Be proactive - you get out what you put in.

Show genuine talent - make us feel like we'll never be that good.

Attention to detail - we worry, fret and polish till it's right.

Things that might give you an advantage

These things are optional, but we like them:

- Illustration
 - Photography
 - Music
 - Print design experience
 - Just having interesting / odd / diverse interests, background or hobbies
-

What to do next

If you'd like to know more, please send your CV or LinkedIn URL to jobs@thisissoon.com, along with a link to your portfolio, explaining why you think you'd be right for the role.

Please note, you will need to be able to work legally in the UK to get the job. We don't have any Visa's to dish out, sorry.

SOON_

Still think you are the one?
...then definitely apply right NOW!
jobs@thisissoon.com